Mustangs To Fear is proud to announce that today the company has acquired the fiberglass and suspension assets of Maier Racing. Terms of the deal were not announced.

Formed in 1969 and headquartered in Homedale, ID, Maier Racing is an industry leader as a manufacturer and distributor of fiberglass and suspension parts for 1965-70 Mustangs. Regarding the deal, Charles Maier, President of Maier Racing commented, “As we were looking to take Maier Corporation and our newest venture, The US-A Team in a new direction, we were looking for a company in order to divest the tools, molds, and other assets that understands the classic Mustang market, already manufactures and distributes fiberglass parts, and would be capable of taking care of our long-time customers around the world. We have found that combination in the team at Mustangs To Fear.”

Formed in 2008 and headquartered in Rochester, IN, Mustangs To Fear, in addition to building award winning Mustangs also manufactures and distributes a variety of proprietary products for classic Mustangs including suspension, fiberglass, interiors, lights, Coyote swap, and Godzilla swap products. Tom Peters, President of Mustangs To Fear commented, “Maier Racing is a world-class leader in the classic Mustang aftermarket parts market and we are excited that they selected and entrusted us to continue the legacy they created. Their fiberglass and carbon fiber product catalog is unmatched in the industry as it spans from 1965 through 2009 Mustangs. This acquisition will not only supplement our current product line of Mustang parts from 1965-70 but will also expand it to the years spanning 1971-2009.”
